

Terms of Use

By browsing this website, visitors and/or users declare that they have read, understood, and accepted the Terms and Conditions of Use that govern it, the Privacy Policy, and all other alerts and notices that may appear in connection with the matters addressed in the aforementioned terms.

1. Any information provided by users will be collected and stored in accordance with strict security and confidentiality standards.
2. Personal information provided to the company by users will be collected by ethical and legal means and may have one or more purposes, about which users will be informed.
3. Users will be notified of what information will be collected before it is collected, and will have the option of choosing whether or not to provide this information, under the responsibility of the user, who will also be aware of the consequences of their decision.
4. Unless MBRF receives a legal or judicial order, your information will never be transferred to third parties or used for purposes other than those for which it was collected.
5. This website has an express policy on the privacy of data obtained through it. Registration information and other information about Users are subject to the treatment defined in the aforementioned Policy. For more information, please refer to the document "Privacy Policy." This document is an integral and inseparable part of the Terms and Conditions of Use of this website and should be read carefully by all visitors and/or Users.
6. Access to the information collected is restricted to employees authorized to use such information appropriately. Employees who misuse this information, violating this Privacy Policy, will be subject to the penalties of the MBRF disciplinary process.
7. The company will keep the information provided by visitors intact.
8. This website contains links or frames from other sites, which may or may not be partners of the company and allies. These links and frames are made available solely to provide an additional benefit to users. It is worth noting that the inclusion of these links and frames does not mean that MBRF is aware of, agrees with, or is responsible for them or their respective content. Therefore, MBRF cannot be held responsible for any losses or damages suffered as a result of using these links or frames.
9. Whenever other organizations are hired to provide support services, they will be required to comply with MBRF's privacy standards.

10. For administrative purposes, the company may occasionally use cookies*, and users may, at any time, activate mechanisms in their browsers to inform them when cookies are activated or to prevent them from being activated.

1. Any information provided by users will be collected and stored in accordance with strict security and confidentiality standards.

2. Personal information provided to the company by users will be collected by ethical and legal means and may have one or more purposes, about which users will be informed.

3. Users will be notified that their information will be collected before it is collected, and they will have the option to choose whether or not to provide this information, under their own responsibility, and they will also be aware of the consequences of their decision.

3.1. It is important to note that MBRF adopts technological and organizational measures to protect personal data against unauthorized access, alteration, disclosure, or destruction. These actions include the use of encryption, access controls, and periodic training with employees on the importance of privacy and information security.

4. Unless MBRF receives a legal or judicial order, your information will never be transferred to third parties or used for purposes other than those for which it was collected.

Additionally, MBRF is committed to periodically reviewing its privacy and security practices, always seeking continuous improvement of processes and compliance with current legislation, such as the General Data Protection Law (LGPD). In the event of any significant updates to data processing practices, users will be duly informed through the company's official channels.

5. This website has an express policy on the privacy of data obtained through it. Registration information and other information about Users are subject to the treatment defined in the aforementioned Policy. For more information, please refer to the "Privacy Policy" document. This document is an integral and inseparable part of the Terms and Conditions of Use of this website and should be read carefully by all visitors and/or Users.

6. Access to the information collected is restricted to employees authorized to use such information appropriately. Employees who misuse this information, in violation of this Privacy Policy, will be subject to the penalties of BRF's disciplinary process.

7. The company will keep the information provided by visitors intact.

8. This website contains links or frames from other sites, which may or may not be partners of the company and allies. These links and frames are provided solely to provide an additional benefit to users. It is worth noting that the inclusion of these links and frames does not mean that BRF is aware of, agrees with, or is responsible for them or their respective content. Therefore, BRF cannot be held responsible for any losses or damages suffered as a result of using these links or frames.

9. Whenever other organizations are hired to provide support services, they will be required to comply with MBRF's privacy standards.

10. For administrative purposes, the company may occasionally use cookies*, and users may, at any time, activate mechanisms in their browsers to inform them when cookies are activated or to prevent them from being activated.

11. The Terms and Conditions of Use of this website are subject to constant improvements and enhancements. Thus, MBRF may, at any time, change the Terms and Conditions of Use of this website, which will take effect upon publication on this website.

11. It should be noted that all the practices described above aim to ensure transparency and security in the processing of users' personal data. MBRF implements continuous monitoring and auditing processes to identify and correct any vulnerabilities, promoting a reliable digital environment in line with industry best practices.

12. The commercial use of the expression MBRF as a trademark, business name, or domain name is not permitted, nor is the use of the contents of the MBRF website screens, as well as the programs, databases, networks, and files that allow the User to access and use through their account are the property of MBRF and are protected by international copyright, trademark, patent, model, and industrial design laws and treaties, and their use by the User is prohibited, except with prior written authorization.

12. Users are advised to periodically review these Terms and Conditions of Use to stay informed of any changes or updates. Continued use of the website after modifications have been made constitutes acceptance of the new conditions established.

The User hereby declares that they will respect all intellectual property rights and those arising from the protection of registered trademarks, as well as all rights relating to third parties that may be, or have been, in any way available on the MBRF website.

13. Access to the MBRF website does not grant the User any right to use the names, titles, words, phrases, trademarks, patents, literary, artistic, literary-musical works, images, videos, symbols, among others, that are or were available on it. The reproduction, distribution, disclosure, adaptation, modification, use, editing, availability in any media, etc., in whole or in part, of the content described above is prohibited, except with the prior written authorization of MBRF.

14. The User assumes all responsibility for the misuse of information, texts, graphics, trademarks, works, images, videos, in short, any and all intellectual or industrial property rights of the MBRF website. Unauthorized or improper use will be considered a violation of intellectual property rights and subject to the applicable penalties under Brazilian law.

Cookie: a small file placed on your computer to track movements within websites.*